EXCELLENT LADY RIDING

A Brilliant Throng Gathers at the Ring Side at Fredericksburg.

TANDEM RUNS AWAY

A. Randolph Howard's Team Smashes Cart and Throws the Driver Out.

PREDERICKSBURG, VA., June 23.-Yesterday was gratifying to the managers of the Horse Show as being successful, but to-day surpassed it in every respect. Not only did the citizens of Fredericksburg turn out on masse, but the people from the surrounding countles, who were not largely represented yesterday, poured in during the morning hours in large numbers. The streets and roadways leading to the Horse Show grounds were crowded until past noon, conveying the throngs to the center of attraction. The grand stand contained a fashionable gathering, all of the society leaders being gathering, an of the society leaders acing present, and not only the boxes, but all of the seats were occupied, as well as the lawn in front of the stand and other points of vantage. In addition to this, vehicles were packed near the ring in the field in front of the grand stand, and these contained many hundreds of persons. nator Thomas S. Martin was again sons.

Senator Thomas S. Martin was again present to-day, and Congressman W. A. Jones, who arrived last night, was also on the grounds. Both gentlemen wert given a royal welcome.

SEVERAL FALLS.

Many of the classes to-day were similar to those of yesterday, but all were entertaining, and the tandems, four-in-hands, the jumping classes, heluding those for lady riders, the hunt teams and hounds, champion classes and the steeplechases were of special interest.

There were several falls yesterday, but no one was seriously hurt, Mrs. Blair Johnson fell twice from John Stewart Bryan's gray Elevator, which is seventeen hands high. After the first fall she remounted and rode again, but after the second fall she did not attempt any further jumps.

second fall she did not attempt any further jumps.

At the recess hour the grounds and grand stand presented the appearance of a vast picnic, many of those present having brought baskets and linch, which they enjoyed in thoroughly holiday style. This was the first horse show ever held here, and it has been such a source of pleasure socially and so successful financially that it will be unquestionably an annual fixture hereafter.

SUPERB LADY RIDING.

The splendid riding of Miss Skelton, of Richmond; Miss Henry, of Winchester, and Miss Hopkins, of Washington, were features to-day. Lieutenant-Governor Joseph E. Willard arrived at the Horse Show at noon. He was greeted warmly and shown much attention. He is extremely popular here. To-night Mr. Williard delivered the address before the Elika order, celebrating their first anniversary. Mr. A. Randolph Howard's tandem isam ran away before the class was called. FELLOW-SERVANTS

The case of Virginia and Southwestern Railway Company vs. Clower's administrator is the first in which the court has passed upon the doctrine of fellow-servants, under the new Constitution. The plaintiff's intestate was killed by reason of the failure of the telegraph operator to deliver or transmit an order sent out from the train dispatcher's office to the conductor of one of the coiliding trains. The controlling question, as stated by Judge Whittle in delivering the opinion of the court, is, whether or not a telegraph operator falls within any opinion of the court, is, whether or not a telegraph operator falls within any of the exceptions of section 162 of the Constitution, taking him out of the category of fellow-servants of the plaintiff's intestate.

The defendant company insisted that section 162 should be strictly construed.

section 162 should be strictly construed, and that thus construed, it would leave the relations between these employes unchanged. The court holds that whatunchanged. The court holds that whatever might be said in reference to the construction of statutes in derogation of the common law, the rule has no application to a remedial provision of a Constitution ordained for the obvious purpose of relaxing the stringency of existing precedents in the interest of employes engaged in the dangerous occuration of constructing mentalning and pation of constructing, maintaining and affected by the order, but that a teleaffected by the order, but that a tele-graph operator through whom the order is to be transmitted to the conductor and the trainmen are fellow-servants. Each constitutes a part of a conduit, through which the order is transmitted from its source to its destination, and the omis-sion of either to discharge his important function defeats that object.
